

No Polio Cases in City Reports Dr. Sanford To Board of Health

One Mild Case in August, but Was Kingston Child in Watertown, the Health Officer States.

RECORD AGAIN

Mayor Announces Infant Mortality Rate for Kingston Is Zero in August.

Dr. L. E. Sanford, city health officer, in reply to questions by members of the Board of Health Tuesday evening stated that there were no cases of infantile paralysis in Kingston at the present time. He said that there had been a mild case here in August, but it had not been reported here but in Watertown. He said the case was that of a child of preschool age, whose family resides on Flatbush avenue. The child was taken ill on August 17, and the family then left for Watertown for a visit taking the child with them. Shortly after being in Watertown it was noticed that the child walked with a slight limp and a physician there diagnosed the attack as infantile paralysis.

Dr. Sanford said that as that occurred in August and the period of incubation is two weeks for the disease that all danger of the disease being spread by the child was past. He said the child had fully recovered.

City Engineer James Norton sent a communication to the board that he had complied with the board's request made at the August meeting and had prepared a WPA project for the construction of a sanitary sewer in East Union street, just east of the high road. There are several houses on that end of the street who use cesspools as there is no sewer in the street.

Pratt Boice, local milk dealer, appeared before the board with a new type of cover cap he planned to use on his milk bottles.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman who presided at the health board meeting called attention to the fact that for the second month this year the infant mortality rate in Kingston stood at zero.

Child Hygiene
The report of the bureau of child hygiene showed that there were 418 cases under care for health supervision, 248 of these were infants, 156 of preschool age, and 16 prenatal cases. In the infant welfare survey there were 44 babies added.

The report of Miss Mildred Schwab, registrar, showed that during August there had been 68 births and 45 deaths reported in the city as compared with 53 births and 33 deaths in August last year. The resident death rate this year was 11.4, while last year for the same period it was 12.1. There were no deaths in Kingston of children under ten years of age during August.

Dr. Sanford reported five cases of scarlet fever here in August; two cases of pneumonia; one of tetanus and one of meningitis. There was also one case of typhoid fever, but that was a non-resident of Kingston.

MURPHY REPORTED HIS CAR STRUCK A GIRL
Lawrence Joseph Murphy of 120 Pearl street, reported to the police department that about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon his car had struck a young girl, Gloria Simmons, of 10 Lindenman avenue. He stopped his car and took the girl to the Kingston Hospital where it was said she had not been seriously injured, and he then took the girl to her home.

SHOW PRESENTS 'LITTLE TOWN CAR' OF LAST YEAR
A 1936 Packard "12" sedan, which according to the Eagle Garage, was formerly the property of no less a person than President Roosevelt, is on display at the garage showroom on Main street.

The sedan, received in an exchange deal with a New Rochelle company, sold originally for $5,200, but is now held otherwise.

Treasury Receipts
Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—The position of the Treasury on September 13: Receipts, $38,773,323.28; expenditures, $2,077,324.66; balance, $3,015,738.46.00; customs receipts for the month, $1,763,417.04. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $1,084,486,931.53; expenditures, $1,499,227,785.67, including $441,041,777.88 of emergency expenditures; excess expenditures, $414,730,864.14; gross debt, $37,559,352.46; increase of the day; gold assets, $12,640,928.97.54, including $1,109,366,350.44 of inactive gold.

Plan Association Of Catskill Groups To Publicize Area

At the semi-annual meeting of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster county held in the Stuyvesant Hotel Tuesday evening the association favored the formation of a new organization to be known as the Catskill Mountain Association to function for the entire Catskill area. Various hotel associations and business men's associations in the Catskill area are to be invited to unite with the sportsmen's club in forming this new organization. The need of such an organization is apparent from a study of the vacation guides issued this year by the State Bureau of Publicity in which Ulster county and the Catskill Mountains was allotted a very small space. Mayor C. J. Heiselman has called the attention of Commissioner Lithgow Osborne of the State Conservation Commission to the small space allotted, and has been assured that more space will be given to this region in the next issues of the vacation guides.

Action Begun

Preliminary plans are already underway for the formation of such an organization, and it is expected that in the near future a meeting of representatives of the various sports clubs, hotel associations and business men's organizations in this territory will be held and a permanent organization formed.

Edward Huben of the Rosendale Sportsmen's Association called attention of the federation to the removal of the CCC camp at Boiceville and the proposed removal of the Tannersville CCC camp and said it would leave the Catskill area without a CCC camp while there are several CCC camps in the Adirondack area.

The association went on record as favoring the retention of at least one CCC camp in the Catskill area and will make an appeal to Commissioner Osborne and the federal authorities.

Other matters of interest to the sportsmen of Ulster county were taken up at the meeting.

GANG WARFARE FOLLOWS CHINESE ARMY IN SHANGHAI

Shanghai, Sept. 15 (AP)—The wolves of war reaped a grim harvest today from shell-plowed battlefields northwest of Shanghai. Criminals crept after the Chinese army in its retreat to stronger inland positions and stripped heaps of corpses of deadly weapons with which to commit crimes in the international settlement and French concessions.

Already Shanghai police have battled numerous gangs of armed desperadoes—gang warfare in the wake of major warfare—killing and wounding many of the marauders.

POUGHKEEPSIE FIRE CHIEF WANTS MORE MEN

Fire Chief Chris Noll of Poughkeepsie is including in his preliminary budget a request for six additional paid firemen, but the chance of obtaining an increase of approximately $12,000 annually to pay the six additional men was said to be slim in aldermanic circles. The council allowed two men on last year's budget. Including the chief and his two volunteer assistants there are now 40 men in the Poughkeepsie paid fire department.

GOODNESS GRACIOUS! Governors Ain't What They Used To Be

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 15 (AP)—Goodness, how things have changed! Governor Olin D. Johnston, attending the annual governor's conference here, remarked last night that he never had a drink in his life.

And what did the governor of North Carolina, Clyde R. Hoey, say to the governor of South Carolina?

"I," said he, "never hit the bottle either."

FIRE CHIEF MURPHY TO SPEAK AT STANFORDVILLE

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston fire department will speak on "Isolated Fires" at the meeting of the Mid-Hudson Fire Chiefs' Association in Stanfordville in Dutchess county, on Saturday evening.

Franc at Lowest Depth
Paris, Sept. 15 (AP)—A heavy selling wave today toppled the French franc to its lowest depth in more than a decade. At noon the franc was quoted at 28.90 to the dollar, or 3.42 cents, and 143.00 to the pound sterling. The government currency stabilization fund at least temporarily abandoned attempts to bolster it. Financial experts predicted even lower levels.

Justice Foster Gives Memorandum Upon His Fair Market View

Hearings Are Held In Esopus Claims On Tunnel Waters

During the week the Esopus commission, consisting of Chairman William W. Hopkin of New York city, John F. Wadlin of Highland and Howard Beecher of Monticello, have heard considerable testimony at the hearing room of the commissioners of appraisal in the Burgevin building on Fair street.

The commission was appointed to hear claims arising out of the addition of the waters from the Shandaken tunnel to the Esopus creek, by the city of New York, 13, 136, and to award compensation to property owners for the acquisition by the city for easement by condemnation to so induce waters of the Shandaken tunnel into the Esopus creek in perpetuity.

The New York Central Railroad, Mountain Division, which tracks about the Esopus creek at numerous points between Allabach and the Ashokan reservoir, has filed with the commission in an unspecified amount a claim for damages caused by the city of New York through its construction of the Shandaken tunnel and inducing thereby waters from the Shohar reservoir to the Esopus creek.

About 14 damage parcels are set forth upon the condemnation map as belonging to the railroad. The railroad argued that 18 additional parcels belonged to the railroad and demanded the right to present evidence upon these additional parcels. The commission decided, however, that it had jurisdiction to hear testimony only upon parcels set forth upon the condemnation map.

Witnesses Called

Witnesses called by the railroad have been Frank A. Kline, J. Nelson Grim and Lancelot Phelps. Damage was attributed to the increased flow in the Esopus from the tunnel waters. Over objection of the city evidence of the cost of rip-rap and building walls as protection, particularly at the Phoenixia yards, was admitted.

The cost was estimated at $230,000. No evidence has yet been introduced as to past damages or the value of the easement. On November 8 and 9 further evidence in regard to the railroad parcels will be presented.

Harry H. Flemming appeared for the New York Central Railroad and Henry R. Bright and John E. Egan for the city of New York.

The claim of George E. Siemon, who owns damage parcel 59, was also presented. This parcel is located at the lower end of Phoenixia village and consists of about one half of an acre, part of which is between the Esopus creek and Route 28, and the remainder upon which a house is located on the easterly side of Route 28 from the creek. The claim filed was in the amount of $750.

Testimony disclosed that Mr. Siemon purchased the property in 1931 at a foreclosure sale for $2,500 and has since rented the property for $20 per month. Objection was made by the city to any award to Mr. Siemon for alleged damages which might have taken place between 1924 and the date of the purchase in 1931 upon the ground that such right of trespass was a personal right, not running with the land and not passing to a purchaser at a foreclosure sale, who took the land in its then existing condition at a price which reflected any past damage. It was urged upon behalf of the claimant that

Holding that "generally speaking the market value of real property has been held to be the amount which one desiring but not compelled to purchase will pay under ordinary conditions to a seller who desires but is not compelled to sell." Supreme Court Justice Sydney F. Foster has written a very complete and interesting memorandum in connection with his order of confirmation of the first separate report of New York City's Delaware Section 5 Commission in which he sustained the awards made by the commissioners, including the Esopus award which was $19,550 in amount, together with several smaller ones, and disapproved but for $550 in the Lucy Barthels case which was the award made by the commissioners for a parcel of several acres without buildings. The award is rejected and re-submitted to the same commissioners for consideration.

Throughout the proceedings brought by the city of New York to acquire lands for the construction of the Rondout creek dam at Lackawack it has been the contention of claimants that in 1936 and that no fair market existed. On this theory testimony has been offered before the commissioners as to the value of the land in 1930, the last average year for real estate. This testimony was received over the objection of the city and was one of the grounds of objection to the awards made by the commissioners.

Proper Admission
Justice Foster has ruled that the admission of this testimony together with other testimony was proper.

In his memorandum the judge in effect holds that while the commissioners were bound to award to the claimant such sum as would be a fair market price as of the date of taking, which was November 1936, he holds that if through abnormal or extraordinary conditions no fair market existed at the time of taking then the commissioners must assume the existence of such a fair market value and in the light of such assumption to determine the value. The indulging in such a fiction he holds is proper in his memorandum covering the matter follows:

SUPREME COURT, ULSTER COUNTY.—In the Matter of the Application and Petition of the Board of Water Supply of the City of New York to acquire real estate for and on behalf of the City of New York under Chapter 724 of the Laws of 1905 and the Acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto. Diphtheria Clinics in Various Parts of City

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, is planning to hold additional diphtheria and vaccination clinics in various sections of the city during the fall months in order to extend the work of protecting the children of the city. These clinics will be held in addition to the regular Tuesday afternoon clinics at the city hall.

The holding of these additional clinics is approved by Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who is anxious to have every child in the city immunized against diphtheria and smallpox.

The first clinic will be held at

Bigger and Better Fall Opening Is Promised Sept. 23

Certainly looks as if there was going to be a big time in Kingston the night of Thursday, September 23—the date set by the Kingston Business Men's Association for the fall opening and window display.

Unusual window displays in competition for silver cups, a parade and music by the American Legion Drum Corps, address by the mayor, a block dance with music by a 10-piece orchestra, are among the attractions listed for the occasion, along with a spectacular turning on of the new street lights recently installed by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation.

Completed plans for the fall opening were revealed this morning by Leonard H. Beers, director of the association, who has been working with Ben Fein's Special Events Committee, following a meeting of the committee last night.

It appears that, through the work of the Special Events Committee, headed by John W. Matthews, it has been possible to greatly expand the program for the fall opening as originally suggested to the association at its last meeting. This means, too, that there has been evidenced wholehearted cooperation on the part of all the merchants and business men to carry out the enlarged program.

It's going to be a gala night in Kingston, with a display and entertainment that will undoubtedly draw to the city visitors from far and near.

Plans as now formulated call for the appearance of the American Legion Drum Corps, in full uniform, at the corner of Main and Fair streets at 7 o'clock. From there they will march and play through Fair street to Johnstown to Wall, through Wall to North Front and down North Front to Crown street. From Crown street they will return over the same route, finally forming at the intersection of North Front and Wall, where, at 7:20 P. M., President A. W. Mollitt, of the Business Men's Association, will introduce Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, who will make an address which will be broadcast through a loud-speaker.

Will Throw Switch.

At the conclusion of Mayor Heiselman's address he will throw a switch which will be connected with the street lighting system by the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation. The new street lights will dispel the darkness which up to that time will have been lighted only by the lights from the various business places.

As the lights are turned on the store windows will be unveiled and thrown open to public inspection. The three judges, conducted by Richard Dawes, of the Central Hudson Corporation, will also start their tour of the business section to inspect and judge the

Japan Tells League that it Will Ignore All Mediation In Conflict with China

Mayor Against Any Plan for Curtailed WPA

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman this morning told a reporter that he was strictly against reduction of WPA jobs in Kingston. When the mayor was queried concerning the proposed meeting to discuss WPA projects for the future, he said, "Far be it from me to be in accord with any plan to make men lose their jobs."

At the meeting of the Board of Public Works last Monday, the conference was proposed, the mayor said, to discuss revision of WPA project plans, and not to talk about discontinuance of the WPA in Kingston.

"There was not even the remotest suggestion about discontinuing WPA made at the meeting," Mayor Heiselman said, and then went on to explain.

"The conference will be for the purpose of considering the advisability of the city sponsoring a different type of project than those the city has heretofore insisted upon."

"Such a change in the type of project might be made necessary by the recent wholesale discharge by WPA of office help and supervisory personnel, which makes it difficult and costly to continue projects using large quantities of expensive materials and equipment."

During the Heiselman administration Kingston city has spent $371,485.35 as its share on WPA projects.

Letter Cites Confusion
What precipitated the WPA discussion at the Board of Public Works meeting last Monday, Mayor Heiselman explained, was the reading of a letter which he had written to State WPA Administrator Lester Herzog, wherein he called attention to the confusion and loss of efficiency which occurred after the recent reduction in WPA supervisory personnel.

Mayor Heiselman manifested his disapproval of the wholesale cleaning out of the WPA office forces here last August, throwing an unbearable burden on the shoulders of the Ulster county manager, Arthur Hallinan.

The mayor said he was in favor of the reinstatement of Frank Campbell as superintendent and of Mr. Van Loan as material control man, in order to provide contact and coordination in the field and to insure delivery to the various jobs of materials, supplies and equipment.

In his letter, the mayor stated that County Manager Hallinan has only two helpers now in his office and that it was not humanly possible for him with one stenographer and one clerk to lay out, plan, insure materials for delivery and direct and supervise 1,000 persons working on 40 scattered jobs throughout Ulster county.

"As I stated in the letter to Mr. Herzog," said the mayor, "I am in favor of re-establishing the old office set-up for Mr. Hallinan to afford him sufficient help to do WPA work efficiently and to give the taxpayers something substantial for what they are paying."

The Letter

The letter read at the Board of Public Works meeting follows:

September 4, 1937
Mr. Lester W. Herzog,
State WPA Administrator,
Albany, New York.

Dear Mr. Herzog:

We have been observing but withholding final judgment on the impaired efficiency of local WPA operations since the recent reduction in office and supervisory personnel. After a month's experience under the new system, I am now prepared to advise you that the lack of such personnel has resulted in a marked decrease in efficiency and a noticeable impairment of morale.

It is obviously impossible for the County WPA manager to plan and supervise the operation of 40 projects and 1,000 employees in the county with no coordination in the field and with only two persons beside himself in the office to do the necessary paper and office work.

The City of Kingston, I think you will agree, has been most cooperative in furnishing materials and equipment and in working in harmony with your local organization in an earnest effort to provide employment to a maximum number of unemployed on projects having a permanent value to the people of this city. We feel the maximum from our contributions of materials and equipment because of the lack of efficiency in current local WPA operations. In

Shanghai's Civic Center, Pride of East, Lies Ruined

(Editor's note: James A. Mills looked today at the ruins of Shanghai's magnificent Shanghai Civic Center in Kiangnan and saw therein "the fury, the fulfillment and the fanaticism" of war. Here is his moving story.)

By JAMES A. MILLS

Shanghai, Sept. 15 (AP)—The majestic Shanghai Civic Center, costing $25,000,000 and the finest municipal plant in all the Orient, rose from Shanghai's ruins in 1932. Today it is a ruin itself.

I went out there today and looked at it.

Four weeks of incessant bombardment by Japanese planes, warships and artillery have converted the city hall, the library, the museum, the stadium and the monuments to the fury, the fulfillment and the fanaticism of war.

This great development was designed and built by American engineers. It was intended to serve as a model for the other cities of China. Neither Tokyo nor Nanking could boast such superb administration and cultural buildings.

Today all these are black, mangled skeletons which appall the eye and sicken the heart. Spain and Ethiopia have seen nothing like this. One has to go back to the ruined classical cities of France and Belgium of the World War I—Rheims, Louvain, Liège—to find a parallel to the tragic sweep of destruction.

Hospital Shattered

Great and gaping shell holes in most of the buildings have made rebuilding almost an impossibility. Even the $2,000,000 American style hospital, which was to have served as a model for all China, is as badly shattered as the Wootung force that stand grim and broken at the confluence of the Whangpoo and the Yangtze.

The stadium, built like Harvard's, is shell torn. The million dollar library is a ghost of its former self.

But it is in the great white granite museum, which housed China's century old relics, those from the Taiping rebellion, the opium war and the Boxer uprising, that I saw the most tragic picture.

Scattered about the debris-strewn floor are shell-pierced galleries are the broken heads and the dismembered torsos of delicately carved Gods, the arms and legs of papier-mache figures, the pathetic remains of Chinese classical dolls, puppets, statues.

Vandalism Rampant

To this tragic spectacle of war has been added the crimes of vandalism. So great has been the looting and desecration that it is hard to tell exactly what kind of articles were exhibited in the museum.

Will Not Accept Temporary League Council Seat to Defend Herself, Japanese Envoy Discloses Today.

"NO AGGRESSION"

Envoy Empowered to Make Unofficial Statement to League, He Says.

Geneva, Sept. 15 (AP)—Japan will refuse and ignore even friendly mediation by the League of Nations in the Sino-Japanese conflict, the Japanese minister to Switzerland disclosed today.

The Japanese envoy, Eiichi Amau, told the Associated Press Japan would brook no interference in the far eastern crisis.

His statement came as the League pondered what if any action to take on China's blistering indictment of Japan's "aggression" and her demand for a League denunciation of the Japanese military campaign.

There is no question of Japan accepting a temporary League Council seat in case she is invited to defend herself, the Japanese envoy declared decisively.

Amau admitted that though Japan is no longer a member of the League he is following developments during the assembly session at which China's delegate, Dr. Wellington Koo, today made a denunciatory appeal.

Officially Amau is in Geneva in his capacity as director of the Japanese Geneva Bureau to handle international conference. (In Tokyo the Japanese government ordered Amau to refute Chinese charges of aggression, but a foreign office spokesman said he had been given no detailed instructions.)

He may "at his own discretion" make an unofficial statement to the League, the spokesman declared, adding that League action would only "aggravate" the Sino-Japanese crisis.

By JOSEPH SHARKEY

Koo Predicts for U. S.—Dr. Wellington Koo, one of China's most illustrious statesmen, warned the United States and Europe today that Japanese runs may menace them some day if they do not support China now.

He made the statement before the League of Nations assembly in a blistering indictment of what he called Japanese "aggression." The speaker, pleading for urgent League action, asserted that "European and American interests already are being threatened from occupation of Tientsin and Peiping by the Japanese army."

"If Japan should succeed in her attempt to dominate Shanghai as well," he continued, "the end of vast commercial interests there of Europe and America could be easily foreseen."

"It is clear that China is vigorously resisting the Japanese armed aggression is not only trying to defend her own territory but in effect also to safeguard the rights and interests of foreign powers within her borders."

He appealed to the enlightened self-interest of foreign nations to bring them to the support of China and argued:

"If the day should come—which God forbid!—when Japan would be able to lay her hands on a great part of what China possesses in man power and natural resources, then she would feel herself so much stronger as to challenge the treaty rights and territorial possessions of Europe and America in the South Seas and the Pacific as well as on the mainland of Asia."

Elimination of Foreigners

Koo declared that Japan "aims not only at political domination and conquest of China, but also at elimination of foreign interests wherever the Japanese sword holds sway and eventual expulsion of Europe and America from territorial possessions in Asia."

The Far Eastern situation, Koo asserted, "calls for urgent action by the league."

Speaking from the assembly rostrum, he said it was for the league council to decide—now that China has appealed definitely for action—whether to act itself, leave the assembly with the question or first refer the appeal to the old Sino-Japanese advisory committee setup by the assembly in 1933.

The United States was a member of that committee in a consultative capacity. There was considerable speculation in Geneva as to whether Washington would consider itself still an active member of the inactive committee.

THE APPLE BUSINESS
IN THE HUDSON VALLEY.

Editor, The Freeman:

Dear Sir:

In referring to the article in your paper under date of September 13, headed "Lack of Workers in Apple Orchards is Serious Problem," wish to submit a few facts pertaining to the apple business in the Hudson valley on the west side of the river.

I know there are a sufficient number of real apple pickers, willing and anxious to do this line of work, provided they can get wages that they should be, and are entitled to, for such work.

In my 18 years in this locality I have found but one farmer that paid anywhere near reasonable wages for orchard work. Any apple grower that thinks he is doing anyone a favor by paying him 25 cents or even 30 cents an hour for work of any kind has not much sense of justice. This subject could be carried to a lengthy discussion, but I think a few facts are in order. I know of one apple grower, a short distance out of Kingston, who is well-to-do, and still has a government job, and still has the nerve to offer a person $2 per day of 9 hours, to do work on his farm, and at the same time wants this man to be young and experienced in every line pertaining to the work. This is only one of several similar cases. There are at the present time men working in orchards in this county that know very little, if anything about apple picking, but they get the same wages as the real apple picker. There are also men working in these orchards from as far away as the state of Florida.

If the NRA or any other such body can use the public funds and pay at the rate of $3.20 per day, private bodies should be able to pay equal wages.

If these apple growers will pay wages that should be paid, a number of these men working for them could and would be able and willing to buy their apples and pay the right price. This price of 75 cents per bushel mentioned, must be for apples known as drops not No. 1 apples. There are very few, if any, No. 1 apples being offered for sale at the present time fit for immediate consumption.

On the other hand, should the AAA purchase the surplus apples for relief distribution, how much does this benefit the real apple picker and laborer.

Respectfully,
G. E. RAFTERY,
Port Ewen, N. Y.

WELL, CAN YOU BEAT THAT?

CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

PARALYSIS PREVENTION THROUGH NOSE

Dr. Austin O. Hayden shown giving a nasal spray treatment for infantile paralysis to John Greenfield, a schoolboy, as the first clinic for the administration of the spray preventative was opened at St. Joseph's Hospital in Chicago. Public officials saw a leveling off of the paralysis wave that has prevented the schools from opening on schedule.

There seems to be an argument in progress as to whether women should be allowed to wear shorts for golf. But it doesn't matter. They'll wear 'em anyway. And as far as male golfers are concerned, one of 'em says what they wear or don't wear is nobody's business. That's what the old proverb said. "What's everybody's business is nobody's business."

Bigger and Better Fall Opening

Window displays and decide who is to receive the three silver cups which have been offered as prizes for the best displays.

The judges will be Kenneth Gray, display advertising manager for the Wallace Co., Poughkeepsie, A. W. Malet, who holds a similar position with Luckey Platt & Co., Poughkeepsie, and Dudley Price, of the Illuminating engineering laboratory of the General Electric Co., Schenectady.

The cups to be awarded will be placed on display Friday in the window of Safford & Scudder, Wall street.

While the judges are viewing the displays and making their decision, the drum corps will parade and play, until 9 o'clock, at which time the block dance will start.

The Block Dance will be held in the middle of the block on Wall street, between John and North Front street. A special platform will be erected for the occasion, from which a 10-piece orchestra, under direction of Paul Zucca, will furnish music for dancing, until 11 o'clock.

To Announce Winners

During one of the intermissions Ben Fein, chairman of the Special Events Committee will announce from the platform the names of the winners to whom have been awarded the prize silver cups.

The following streets will be cleared of vehicular traffic during the evening: Fair street between Main and John; John street between Fair and Wall; Wall street between Main and North Front; North Front street between Fair and Crown.

The Board of Public Works men will begin moving cars off these streets at 5:30, following which the streets will be cleaned and the band stand erected.

There will be one way traffic on Clinton avenue, from Main street to Fair street extension in order to allow access to the parking space in rear of the former Rose & Gorman store.

Visitors to the city and others will find parking space provided at the rear of the Rose & Gorman store, which can be reached through Clinton avenue and through Converse street, from North Front; the public parking space on John street, which will be open for traffic from Crown to the parking lot entrance; in the bus terminal space on Crown street and also in the parking lot at the rear of the Sears Roebuck store, on Crown street.

Parking will be free in all these spaces.

It is announced, also, that there will be no charge for dancing at the block party which will be run from nine to 11 o'clock.

When television comes, it will find the girls all ready to be looked at.

WIND UP HOT MAYORALTY FIGHT

U. S. Senator Royal S. Copeland (left) and former State Supreme Court Justice Jeremiah T. Mahoney (right) made last minute preparations to capture the Democratic nomination for mayor of New York city, each confident that he would be the party's candidate in the November election. Copeland received the active support of former Governor Alfred E. Smith and Tammany Hall while Mahoney was supported by Democratic leaders friendly to Postmaster General James A. Farley in Gotham's five boroughs.

Deny Advance In Price of Brick

Local brick manufacturers emphatically deny the statement that the wholesale price of brick in the metropolitan area has been advanced one dollar per thousand. Almost simultaneously with the recent settlement of the strike on Hudson river plants, building construction in New York city and its suburbs fell to a point 50 per cent below the rate prevailing in the spring and subsequently below the rate prevailing at this time last year. As a result it has been impossible for brick manufacturers to recover the increased costs involved in the strike settlement through a raise in the market price of the product. The bulk of brick being shipped currently is from Newburgh, N. Y., plants where the Pennfield system and other mechanical devices, as well as lower towing and rail rates, enable them to continue to take work at the old price without incurring the losses which upriver manufacturers suffer in marketing their brick under present conditions.

The increase in the price of Hudson river brick, from $11 to $12 a thousand, will become effective October 1, according to a New York dispatch in the Wall Street Journal of Monday, which also announced that in recent weeks some sales have been reported at $11.50. The same paper stated that "a further price increase as the fall building season advances is foreseen by well-informed interests in the industry who believe the product will be selling for at least $12.50 by the year's end."

These prices are at the dock in New York city. Indiana is known as the "Hoosier" state.

HEM AND AMY

SAFETY FIRST

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Operatic Helen Jepson's introduction to movie work was typically filled with annoyances. Miss Jepson, slim and comely, and Charles Kullman, also from the Met, were principals in the first and only scene of the first day of "Goldwyn Follies."

They were doing a scene from "La Traviata"—doing it over and over. The setting was beautiful, like Miss Jepson whose dark blue evening gown was the most vivid spot of color on the stage. The other women and the background players all wore pastel shades, making it easier for the color camera to pick out the star.

Don't Act Like Stars
Kullman and Miss Jepson were singing with full orchestra. But things went wrong at least 10 times while I watched and listened, and the two singers would start anew. The lights went on and off time and again, being "saved" during waits. But neither Miss Jepson nor Kullman acted like an opera star. Both smiled, sat, and sang on order. For all I know they're still there, still meeting the thousand and one technical obstacles of movie-making—but at least Goldwyn's $2,000,000 extravaganza has been launched.

Every picture about Annapolis has that scene wherein the upper-classmen twist the freshman and make him go through farcical antics for their amusement. "Hold 'Em, Navy!" is no exception. We find John Howard giving elaborately serious commands to Lew Ayres, the freshman. The result will be Ayres' forced demonstration, with roly-poly Benny Baker as victim, of how a gentleman kisses a lady.

Deliver Us
The hordes of uninvited guests who lead the children in the bus and come to spend the day with us; Who dine on chicken, peaches, cream. Then lie around to drowse and dream. Until this setting of the sun. Then roll back home "to have some fun."

Explorer—Why, you shouldn't complain about handouts. When I was in the Arctic I used to live on candles and blubber.

Hobo—Well, if I had to eat candles I guess I would too.

Many a pastor who hears that the church is becoming more liberal wishes that the trend would extend to the collection plate.

Old Uncle Abner, who lives north of town, says that marriage is a ceremony in which a ring is put on a lady's finger... and through a gentleman's nose.

Friend—Tell me, who was braver than Lancelot, wiser than Socrates, more honest than Lincoln, wittier than Mark Twain, and more handsome than Apollo? Man—My wife's first husband.

Read It or Not
David B. Ballenger, 92, of Clayton, West Virginia, believes he is the nation's oldest postmaster.

Boss (to one of the stenographers in his office)—What would you say if I hired you as my private secretary.

Little Stenographer (copy)—I wouldn't say anything but 'Yes.'

What can be more satisfying, asks a writer, than putting in hard day's work in the garden? Not putting in a hard day's work in the garden.

Friend—I tell you it keeps me bustling to support two wives.

Man—You don't mean to hint that you've turned bigamist?

Friend—Oh, no; my son William got married two months ago.

THE DIFFERENCE APPEARS TO BE THIS:
If a girl goes around with a hole in the top of her hat it's a halo. If a man does it, it's a disgrace.

The young woman walked boldly up to the elderly woman, whom she had mistaken for the matron of the hospital:

Young Woman—May I see Lieutenant Barker, please?

Elderly Woman—May I ask who you are?

Young Woman—Certainly, I am his sister.

Elderly Woman—Well, well! I'm very glad to meet you. I'm his mother.

The "good old days" were those when the windmills clattered up the ocean instead of the air waves.

Love may laugh at locksmiths, according to the adage, but grocery bills are very, very serious business.

A poet mailed an effusion entitled "Why Do I Live?" to an editor.

The editor returned the poem with the following note: "You live because you didn't dare bring it in yourself."

Mrs. F. T. Tremper Appointed Matron Of Kingston H. S.

Mrs. Fern T. Tremper, of 36 Farrelly street, was appointed matron of the Kingston High School by the teachers' committee of the Board of Education Tuesday evening. Mrs. Tremper, who will assume her duties on Monday, September 20, headed the eligible list submitted to the education board by the Municipal Civil Service Commission as the result of an examination held recently.

At the last meeting of the education board the power to appoint a matron was left in the hands of the teachers' committee. Last evening the committee met with the three applicants whose names appeared on the eligible list, and following the conference the committee met and named Mrs. Tremper.

RIFTON
Rifton, Sept. 15.—Mrs. Victor Traquina of the Bronx is spending several weeks' vacation at the home of Mrs. Fred Yake.

Mr. and Mrs. Malmgren and children, who spent the summer at the home of Miss Rose Fridman, have returned to the city.

Mrs. Wagner of Cedar street is spending several days in Brooklyn.

Miss Marjory Prehn, Miss A. Devine and Mrs. Bailey have returned home after visiting the State Fair at Syracuse.

Miss Dorothy Schikler is spending a week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Clements in New York city.

Mr. Alfred Stone and daughter, Marion, have returned to their home in Brooklyn after spending a week's vacation at the home of their cousins, the Misses Schikler.

Charles and Walter Prehn left on Monday for New York city, where they will spend a week visiting relatives.

Mrs. Jack Remus returned on Sunday after spending some time in New York city.

John O'Hara, who spent a week at the home of Mrs. Baile, returned to his home in the Bronx on Monday.

Jack Remus and Watson Baile left for New York city on Monday where they will visit relatives and friends and take in some amusements.

Miss Rose Fridman has returned to her home here after spending several days in New York.

Mrs. Koster and children, Bobby and Raynor, are spending a week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Broth.

Eric and Bob Winkky, who are now State Troopers, were on duty last week at the State Fair in Syracuse.

Next Sunday at the usual hour, p. m., there will be church service at the M. E. Church or the M. and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend these services. The pastor, the Rev. J. T. Legg, will be in charge.

PRESBYTERIAN BOARDS HOLD FIRST MEETING

The Boards of Elders and Trustees of the Elmendorf Street Presbyterian Church held their first autumn meeting September 13, in the Ramsey Memorial Hall. It was reported that the pulpit committee had been working all summer with the Board of National Missions in New York, and that the board had suggested several candidates whose qualifications fitted the local church's situation. For the next three or four Sundays, the pulpit will be supplied by these men, and it is important that every one interested in the welfare of the uptown Presbyterian church be present, so that when the congregation is asked to choose a new pastor, it will be familiar with all who are to be considered.

The women of the church are planning to make an early start on their usual active program, and the men's club will soon hold its first meeting of the winter season. The Christadelphians have already had a social time in the church hall, thus leading off the new season with their usual active spirit.

HURLEY

Hurley, Sept. 15.—About 30 Christian Endeavorers and their friends enjoyed the Sunday evening Vesper service held at Lake Minnewaska.

The annual church fair and supper will be held on Wednesday, September 22. A chicken supper will be served at 6 o'clock, daylight time. The menu will consist of fricassee chicken, dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, buttered onions, cabbage salad, corn and beans, apple pie and coffee. The supper will be in charge of Mrs. L. C. Dixon. The fancy articles will be in charge of Mrs. C. Chilton and Mrs. W. Ten Eyck.

The Ladies' Mission Society held their September meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Abram Elmendorf.

Parsons Believes Wife Is Dead

New York, Sept. 15 (AP).—William H. Parsons, the Stony Brook, Long Island, pigeon farmer, whose socially prominent wife, Alice McDonnell Parsons, disappeared mysteriously fourteen weeks ago, said today he believes she is dead, but doubts the authenticity of letters reporting her death from pneumonia.

Federal agents, who have been investigating the case since June 9, declined to say whether they believe Mrs. Parsons is dead.

"I don't know whether those letters now in the hands of federal agents are authentic or not," Parsons said. "They may be the work of a crank. I feel, however, that if Alice were alive she would have communicated with me."

Haaland Dies, Gun Lies Near His Side

Ole Haaland, proprietor of a boarding house at Olivera, was found dead this morning half a mile from his boarding house.

Near the body lay a shotgun. The sheriff's office first intimation of the tragedy was when Dr. Abraham, of Fleischmanns, telephoned State Trooper McGarvey at Margartville at noon that there was a man shot at Olivera.

Trooper McGarvey got in touch at once with Sergeant Hulst at Highland, who assigned Corporal Mahoney and Trooper Metzger of the BCI to proceed to Olivera to make an investigation.

At the sheriff's office it was not known whether Haaland had shot himself or whether the county had another murder mystery on its hands.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

Stocks Made Best Daily Gain in Over Two Months

With the volume of trading somewhat reduced yesterday, total number of shares dealt in being 1,510,000 shares, stocks reversed their recent trends.

On the Dow-Jones average industrial stocks made their best daily gain in over two months, advancing 4.90 points, to 162.90; rails were up 1.08, to 431.85; utilities advanced 0.86 point, to 25.25. Corporate bonds improved and government bonds gained as much as 14-32.

Recognition of the government's move toward easier money was credited for some of the gains while grains felt the benefit of foreign demand for U. S. wheat.

Wheat, after showing a decline for five days, was up as much as 2 1/2 cents a bushel, as it was reported that 750,000 bushels had been sold for export. It was also estimated that 2,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had been sold for export, while about 400,000 bushels of Argentine corn, held in bond here, has been sold for export to Rotterdam and Amsterdam.

Foreign markets were dull. On the Paris Bourse South African gold mining shares were active, following announcement that the U. S. Government would desist from $300,000,000 of its inactive gold fund.

Demand from dairies for paper milk containers has been increasing and the fiber container division of American Can Co. plans doubling of present capacity. The company produced more than 65,000,000 milk containers during the first eight months of this year, compared with about 20,000,000 in the entire year 1936.

Union Bag and Paper earnings for the third quarter were estimated at more than $500,000, compared with $387,391 in full year of 1936. The business of Scott Paper Co. in first eight months shows a gain of 21 per cent in dollar value and 19 per cent in tonnage over year ago.

Western Union's rapidly mounting operating costs, especially in the matter of wage scales, is seen reflected in the fact that at the meeting of directors yesterday no action was taken on declaration of a dividend. For the seven months to July 31 the company reported net after charges equal to $2.11 a share on 1,045,278 shares of capital stock. This compares with $3.824,301, equal to $5.66 a share, in the like 1936 period.

Crown Cork & Seal reported net equal to $1.70 a share on shares outstanding for six months ended June 30 vs. $2.27 year ago. Although July business was below a year ago, the brewery industry sales for this year are estimated at around 57,000,000 barrels vs. 52,940,000 year ago.

Farm income for 1937 is estimated by the Department of Agriculture at about $9,000,000 compared with $7,800,000 in 1936.

James M. Landis, who has resigned as chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, said yesterday that extensive speculative operations in the stock market do not make for either stability or liquidity. Mr. Landis was replying to complaints that federal regulation of trading had produced "thin" markets.

Farm Machinery ordered a 3 1/2 cent extra dividend and a 6 1/2 cent quarterly. Howe Sound voted an extra of 15 cents and a quarterly of 75 cents.

CIO workers of the R. M. T. are meeting today to vote on a walk-out, following company's refusal of wage increase demands. A complete shut-down of subway and surface lines is hoped for.

President Phillips of Phillips Petroleum, returning from several weeks in Europe, said: "There is no occasion for a market decline based on European war and economic conditions."

FIND GOLD AND OIL AMID HEAD HUNTERS

By CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New Guinea and Papua Explored by Air Parties.

Sydney, Australia.—Reports from exploring parties in New Guinea and adjoining Australian territory of Papua indicate the existence of large gold and oil fields. But there is one serious drawback to their exploitation—head-hunting tribes.

Jack Hides, one of the most intrepid of the explorers, in his report, detailed the fact that while he was the guest of the chief of one of the local tribes with whom he was negotiating for mining concessions a raiding party came in with thirty-eight newly severed heads. Despite this and other drawbacks, companies are being formed here for the development of these natural resources of the two territories.

Preliminary reports received to date, however, indicate that development of these gold and oil fields will entail difficulties never before encountered in any part of the world. Aside from the perils of head-hunting tribes, the two territories present almost insurmountable difficulties.

It is realized that the transportation of all necessary machinery will have to be by planes. This is further complicated by the fact that everywhere the forests and jungles are so dense that it will be a long time before landing fields can be erected.

In the meantime sea planes of the prospectors are forced to land on the various rivers where facilities are complicated because the rivers are infested with crocodiles which seem to have a penchant for nosing around planes.

Nevertheless, the reports received demonstrate that numerous prospecting parties have been able to establish camps along the various streams, and that the pilots have developed an uncanny instinct for being able to locate them and keep up means of communication.

5 Foreign Naval Heads Demand Troops Spare All Innocents in China

(By The Associated Press.) Shanghai—American and four other foreign naval commanders demanded Chinese and Japanese gunners spare lives of "innocent non-combatants," Chinese from strong new secondary positions repulsed repeated Japanese thrusts along 20-mile front; cholera increased in refugee-packed sections.

Peiping—Bitterest large scale battle began as 125,000 Japanese attacked 500,000 Chinese over the North China front, battle lines followed Tientsin-Nankow line. Peiping-Tankow Railroad. Japanese replaced Japanese mechanized cavalry in rain-inundated areas.

Washington—Maritime commission summoned in special session to execute President Roosevelt's embargo on arms to both belligerents.

Geneva—China warned league that Japanese guns may menace United States and Great Britain if they fail to support China now. League action against Japan demanded.

Tokyo—Government ordered Japanese minister to Switzerland to refuse Chinese charges that Japan is waging a war of aggression.

Foreign Safety Demands. By MORRIS J. HARRIS.

Shanghai, Sept. 15 (AP)—Naval commanders of the United States and four other western powers demanded today that both Chinese and Japanese anti-aircraft gunners take immediate steps to spare the life of "innocent non-combatants."

The urgent request of American Admiral Harry E. Yarnell and the other neutral naval commanders went forward while Chinese, in the face of wave after wave of Japanese attacks, stood fast on their new inland line stretching 20 miles from Chapei to Lübo, north and west of international Shanghai.

The warning from the senior foreign naval officer in Chinese waters came after a day of furious battle along the northern borders of the international settlement. The admirals of the British and French fleets and the Italian and Netherlands naval commanders backed up Yarnell's demand.

Vicious machine gun fire from the concrete nests of China's new defense line northwest of the city mowed down Japanese attacking in an effort to crack the 30 mile front.

Within the settlement itself new fears of the spread of the cholera outbreak were felt. There were 654 cases today and the first British death was reported. The victim was Private Thomas Brown of the loyal north Lancashire regiment.

125,000 Japanese. Peiping, Sept. 15 (AP)—A Japanese army of 125,000 men struck at Chinese positions along the entire north China front today, from the hills 40 miles west of here to the Tientsin-Nankow railroad 60 miles to the east.

The bitterest battle of the nine-weeks old undeclared war was believed to be developing. The Japanese reported almost instantaneous victories on both flanks and at the center of the 100 mile battle line.

The Chinese northern army, estimated at nearly a half million men, was believed slowly withdrawing to their prepared first line positions, stretching like a solid wall of concrete, steel and flesh from Tsangchow, 60 miles south of Tientsin, through Pao-tung, 60 miles southwest of Peiping, into the hills west of this conquered capital of China's dragon emperors.

Since the outbreak of the war hundreds of thousands of Chinese have been building the modern "great wall" while strong, mobile advance detachments held up the Japanese push with almost paralyzing stands at close quarters.

20,000 Cavalry March. A force of 20,000 Japanese cavalry thundered across steel pontoons over the Yungting river, 15 miles south of Peiping, at dawn yesterday to open the concerted drive. Simultaneously, warplanes and artillery raised bombs and shells on the Chinese advanced field headquarters at Kuan Hsien, three miles beyond the river.

By noon the Chinese headquarters had been captured and the Chinese were reported retreating along a nine-mile sector while the Japanese horsemen pushed in pursuit through the flooded fields.

At almost the same moment the Japanese wing operating in the western hills reported routing the Chinese from the mountain top positions, which had threatened Japanese right flank and held up the general advance.

On the extreme left flank of the Japanese line, south of Tientsin, the advance was hugging the railroad embankment which is the only dry route for miles. Hsingshi, 50 miles south of Tientsin, was reported captured and the Japanese lines established only ten miles from the Chinese base at Tsangchow.

Partial Embargo. Washington, Sept. 15 (AP)—Maritime commission officials worked swiftly today to carry out a partial embargo ordered by President Roosevelt on arms shipments to China and Japan.

The full commission was summoned to a special session to consider whether it will intercept the American freighter Wichita, en route from Baltimore to China with a cargo of 19 airplanes, as the first application of the new rule.

The vessel, which sailed from Baltimore on August 27, was expected to reach San Pedro, Calif., during the day for refueling.

Mr. Roosevelt issued the arms ban late yesterday for forbidding 37 ships owned by the government but operated privately to transport munitions to the Far Eastern war zone.

All other American merchant vessels were cautioned that if they attempt to take such cargoes to the Orient, they do so at their own risk.

Most Drastic Step. The edict marked the most drastic step taken by the government in the undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

It was proclaimed after the President had conferred with Secretary Hull and Chairman Kennedy of the maritime commission. In the meanwhile, he had canvassed the general Far Eastern and European situations with his cabinet, hurriedly summoned to a special meeting a few hours after his return from an extended visit to his family home at Hyde Park, N. Y.

The President's statement emphasized that the neutrality act was not being invoked at this time, but that government policy in this respect was being kept "on a 24-hour basis."

The neutrality law, which the President must apply once he finds a state of war exists between nations, automatically would bar American munitions exports and financial aid to belligerents. It would permit the Chief Executive to forbid American ships to transport to the war zones any other commodities which he might designate.

Mr. Roosevelt repeated at his press conference yesterday his intention to do everything possible to keep the United States out of any war. His statement in Hyde Park last week that all the world was "jittery" over the Far Eastern and Mediterranean situations still holds good, he said.

THUNDERHEADS OVER EUROPE

FRIENDLY FASCISTS will strengthen ties which bind when Italy's Benito Mussolini confers with Germany's Adolf Hitler in Berlin in September. All Europe will watch with interest sharpened by the two leaders' determination to stand together against Russian charges that Italian submarines are "pirates."

CAUSE OF IT ALL, the fears of a new world war, is Spain's revolution in which Francisco Franco, insurgent generalissimo, stands as the chief figure. He makes no bones about seeking aid from brother Fascists of Italy and Germany. But Russia, sympathizer with the cause of the Loyalists, protests loudly any signs of alleged intervention.

STANDING IN THE MIDST of European crisis, struggling desperately to prevent any spread of Spain's conflict, are France's Premier Chamberlain (left) and Britain's Prime Minister Chamberlain (right). But above all they desired to rid the Mediterranean of submarine raiders.

PLAYING A LONE HAND against raiders who menace her shipping, Russia announced she would deal as she saw fit with any who attack Soviet vessels. Stalin declared his nation is prepared for any eventuality, even to defending Communism from the combined forces of Fascism.

Chasing Mediterranean Pirates? They've Been Doing It Since 1492

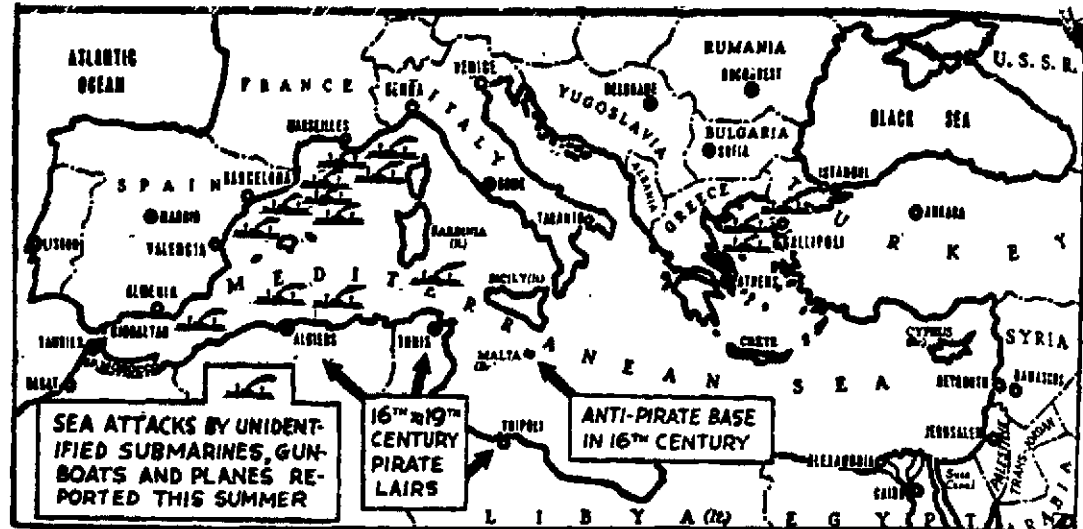

By The AP Feature Service

The Old Man of the Mediterranean laughed and laughed when he heard that the French and the British were sending warships south to sink those darned pirates.

It was an old story to the Old Man—this piracy business. As long as he can remember, pirates have been lurking off and on in rocky lairs along highly important Mediterranean sea trade routes.

And most of that time the powers of the world, including the United States of America, have been sending expeditions to put the rascals to rout.

Skipping Phoenician and Roman and all such ancient history, the Old Man flips a page to the year 1492. That stood for the discovery of America in your school

A Name for It. Though they don't loot ships or walk their victims off gangplanks like the freebooters of old, today's attackers of Mediterranean shipping are correctly called pirates.

International law, says Webster's dictionary, defines piracy not only as forcible plunder of ships, but as "any felonious act committed on the high seas without lawful authority in the spirit and intention of universal hostility."

Something else again is a privateer, a private person or vessel "engaged" in maritime war under commission from a belligerent state.

Moors Get Their Chance. In 1492 Ferdinand and Isabella, who backed Christopher Columbus' well-publicized expedition, also kicked the Moors out of Spain.

The Moors had lived a long time in Spain and didn't want to leave. So they did the next best thing; they hung around Spanish shores as pirates, knocking off the peaceful traders and playing the very devil with freight rates.

Perfectly respectable African coasters like Algiers, Tunis and Tripoli became sinister strongholds where the trade in bloody gold and white women was brisk and profitable.

Barbarossa Top Man. Among the first and greatest freebooters that this pirate trade developed were the brothers Barbarossa. Before long bad-acting elder brother Uruj fought himself into an unmarked grave. The younger, tougher—and smarter—brother went right on up.

1254, Ezra and Marie Empt, Claimants. (Supreme Court, Albany Special Term, August 6, 1937.) (Justice Sydney F. Foster, presiding.)

Appearances: Paul Windels, Esq., Corporation Counsel of the City of New York, (Henry R. Bright and John E. Egan of counsel) Attorney for petitioners.

Thomas J. Plunkett, Esq., (George J. Kaufman of counsel), Attorney for claimants.

Memorandum. FOSTER, J. Claimants in these proceedings have been awarded by commissioners of appraisal the sum of $19,550.00, for real property taken by the City of New York in connection with the development of a new source of water supply.

Petitioner urges the rejection of this award on the grounds that the commissioners adopted an erroneous theory of valuation, and that the award is grossly excessive.

The property, consisting of 32 acres of land, with buildings and other improvements thereon, is located in the hamlet of Lackawack, town of Wawarsing, Ulster county, New York. It was taken in accordance with the provisions prescribed by statute (Chap. 224, Laws of 1905), on November 1, 1936. Claimants contend that on such date there was not a fair market for real estate in that vicinity, and further, that a fair market had not existed since October 1, 1930. In accordance with this theory claimants' witnesses, who testified directly as to value, were permitted to testify to values as of October, 1930.

Other evidence, however, was given. The whole property was thoroughly, even minutely, described. Its history, from the viewpoint of age, cost, construction and use, was given in considerable detail, and also evidence of reproduction costs less depreciation. Petitioner's witnesses, in addition to other testimony, gave direct opinion evidence of the market value of the property on the taking date.

"Erroneous Theory." It is the contention of petitioner that the commissioners erroneously adopted the theory of fair market value on the taking date, and ignored the evidence of its own witness, Hyatt, who gave evidence of value as of such date. This conclusion, of course, does not necessarily follow from the fact that the commissioners did not adopt his figures. However, it is a fair question, and an important one, as to whether the 1930 valuations are admissible on any theory.

The constitution of the state guarantees that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation to the owner (Art. I, Sec. 6). Nothing is said about market value, but the courts have invariably held that the fair market value of property is the equivalent of just compensation (Orgel on Valuation under Eminent Domain, Sec. 16). Like many other rules this rule is oftentimes easier to state than to apply.

Generally speaking the market value of real property has been held to be the amount which one desiring but not compelled to purchase will pay under ordinary conditions to a seller who desires, but is not compelled to sell. Recognition of conditions in connection with the definition of market value is indicated in the frequent use of qualifying phrases: "Under ordinary conditions," or "Under ordinary circumstances," and words of like import (Heiman v. Bishop, 272 N. Y. 83). Witness also the language of Mr. Justice Holmes in New York v. Saxe (239 U. S. 37):

"But what the owner is entitled to is the value of the property taken, and that means what it fairly may be believed that a purchaser in fair market conditions would have given for it in fact."

Connecticut Case. In Altschussky vs. MacDonald (117 Conn. 138) the court rejected the theory that the fair market value of land could not be determined by its value in a time of temporary economic depression. On the other hand the court in Howell vs. State Highway Department (167 S. C. 217) accepted such theory and held in substance that the actual value of land taken is the fair market value in normal times. It is interesting to note that in the Connecticut case one of the arguments used to sustain the conclusion reached was that the money awarded in a time of general depression would purchase much more than in normal times. Of course, this is open to the obvious retort that while the claimants may get interest from the taking date, they do not actually receive the money awarded for months and sometimes years after such date. In this connection some importance may be attached to the fact that insofar as the owners are concerned the expropriation was forcible. They had no choice as to time, but were required to yield to the power of the state at a date selected by the condemnor.

Little Light on Question. The vast majority of cases cited throw but little light upon the precise question involved, doubtless because they do not deal with cases originating during a panic or a very severe depression. The fairest guide, however, seems to be that pointed out by Mr. Justice Holmes, and the plain purport of such a rule is that market conditions are to be fair and ordinary, within reasonable limitations of course, in order that value ascertained by such a method may be equivalent to just compensation. With the existence of such authority it is unnecessary to determine whether a method of determining value under the Mortgage Moratorium Statute and the methods to be used in a proceeding of this character.

It must be conceded, of course, that every fluctuation of a real estate market, or the mere rise or fall of prices, does not create extraordinary or abnormal conditions. A panic or severe depression, however, often so depresses the real estate market that it ceases to exist for all practical purposes, or it does exist in some measure, prices are so depressed as to still make it abnormal from the common viewpoint.

Indulges in Factions. Under the rule stated the commissioners in this case were bound to determine the fair market value of the premises as of the taking date, but they had first to determine whether fair market conditions existed at such time. If such conditions did not in fact exist, and were found to be extraordinary and abnormal, the commissioners nevertheless became bound to assume their existence, and in the light of such assumption to determine value. In other words they were required to indulge in a fiction (Lebanon & Nashville Turnpike Co. vs. Greveling, 65 A. L. R. 440), but there is nothing startling in such a theory. The law frequently indulges in fictions, such as the donee and caution so often referred to in negligence cases.

To solve such a problem they were entitled to assume conditions that had any relevant bearing on the situation, and in this connection it was not improper for them to receive, for what it might be worth, testimony to sustain the claim that market conditions in the vicinity were neither fair nor ordinary in November, 1936, and

As he captured more and more women, ships and treasure and became king of Algiers, ruler of Tunis and high admiral of the Grand Turk himself, most of the Christian nations tried their hand at wiping him out.

The greatest ruler of them all, Charles V of the Holy Roman Empire, spent the early part of the 16th century sending one expedition after another to catch Barbarossa.

Malta a Police Base. Malta was the stronghold for the Knights of Malta who did their best to scourge the Moslem pirates along with the rest of the heathen. (Funny thing, but the English who are now leading the charge against submarine "pirates" have one of their most important bases at Malta.)

Getting down to the 19th century, the pirates of northern Africa were still at it when the United States of America appeared. The United States, like some respectable European power, was paying tribute to Tripoli to keep her tradersmen out of trouble.

In 1810 the pasha wanted to hike the $23,000 annuity and the United States objected. ("Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute.") Objections led to an expeditionary force and—the loss of the U. S. frigate "Philadelphia."

A New Problem Now. Stephen Decatur ("Our Country! May she always be right, but our country, right or wrong") made himself some fame by burning the "Philadelphia" as she lay captive, and returned to the sea with a man-sized fleet five years later. That time he made the pirates swear off American vessels for good.

Well, the pirating went on—and off—for 20 years more, although it was pretty well cleaned up by 1830. English sailors learned the combination against slant-sailed corsair ships. Now they have to figure out the under-some respectable European power, water variety.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

SOCIETIES • CLUBS • PERSONALS

Y.W.C.A. To Begin Season's Activities

Plans for the social activities of the Y. W. C. A. on Henry street are now being made; supplies are ordered and waiting for the busy winter season.

The Varied Women's Club, of which Mrs. Clyde Hutton is the president, has already sponsored a card party at the summer camps of Mrs. Frederick Snyder and Mrs. Chester Van Gassbeck. The first meeting will be held on October 14 at which time the tenth birthday of the club will be celebrated. This club meets twice a month on Thursdays.

The Business and Professional Girls' Club, Mrs. Ruth Vandenbure president, has been having social times at frequent intervals throughout the summer months. The annual camping trip will be held this coming week-end at the Camps at Lake Glenier. The first formal meeting will be held on October 6. As usual the members will meet for supper meetings on Wednesday nights. The Industrial Girls' Club has not been organized as yet. Plans for a fall picnic have been rumored.

Last year the Y. W. C. A. embraced approximately 700 girls, services which were divided among eight grade school groups, one high school and one colored group, each with one or more advisors. Most of the groups have advisors for this year, although there are still several more advisors needed. Club meetings will start off with the grade school rally next week.

The Kingston Chorists have not yet been organized, as they are faced with the difficult task of finding a successor to the late Harry P. Dodge, who directed the group during the past three years.

The Board of Directors, with Mrs. G. N. Wood the president is looking forward to a very successful year. A few more definite plans have yet to be completed. The "Y" office also has need of a flat top desk should anyone have one to dispose of. Soon the "Y" will be humming with its usual busy times in the good work it is doing for the women and girls in the community.

Republican Women To Meet

The Kingston Women's Republican Club will hold an important meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the Governor Clinton Hotel. Election of officers will take place. All members are urged to be present.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Ponckhockie Congregational church will hold a food demonstration social tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be received. Everyone is welcome.

More Freshmen Off Tomorrow

College freshmen leaving tomorrow to enter their new alma maters are Jack Lurie at Ohio State University, Gilbert Richter at St. Lawrence University, Townsend Rifenbary at Union College, Morgan Rion at the University of Colorado, and Evelyn Olivet, David Kotler, and Blanche Kirschenblum at the New York State College for Teachers at Albany.

Reckard-Neal

Mrs. Frank H. Neal announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Norma Ruth Neal to Charles E. Reckard, formerly of Philadelphia, now of this city. The ceremony was performed on September 2 at the parsonage of the St. James M. E. Church by the pastor, the Rev. Arthur G. Carroll. The attendants were Miss Winifred Bruce and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Pemberton of this city.

Mr. Reckard is an employee of the City Service Oil Company on Broadway. The couple are residing at 283 Washington avenue.

Kelekan-Soper

Miss Leona Soper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Soper, of Sister Park, was married Saturday night to Richard N. Kelekan, son of the late H. G. Kelekan, of New York city. The ceremony took place in the parsonage of the East Kingston Methodist Episcopal Church with the pastor, the Rev. Robert Bates, officiating. The attendants were Miss Vivian Schryver and Jason Berry. Following their wedding trip to the Thousand Islands, Mr. and Mrs. Kelekan will reside in Port Jervis, where a newly furnished home awaits them on Bowen street.

Olympian Club Resumes

After a summer of inactivity, the members of the Olympian Club have resumed their meetings. Following the custom, the first fall meeting was a picnic supper on Tuesday, at the summer camp of Miss Frieda Hayes at Lake Katrine. The program this year deals with the study of "Early Explorers and Voyagers," given by Miss Anna Mae Decker, and "A Bird's-Eye View of Africa," given by Mrs. Arthur Cragin. All the members contributed to the program with interesting vacation experiences.

The next meeting will be on September 27 at the home of Mrs. Everett Schutt on Fairmont avenue.

New Paltz Graduate Married

The marriage of Miss Sally Doremus of Schaghticoke, who was graduated from New Paltz Normal School in June, to Arthur M. Scheerer of Fort Dodge, Ia., took place at High Noon, Saturday, September 4 at the Doremus residence. After a motor trip to Canada the couple will reside in Paterson, N. J., where the bridegroom is associated with the Curtis Wright Company.

PARTIES ARE STARTING UP! HERE ARE GAMES FOR YOURS

Musical Partners a Grand "Mixer"

What's the secret of successful parties? Getting the crowd to mix hilariously as they're doing in this gay stunt, Musical Partners! No trick to work it. Have each girl and man draw from boxes filled with slips bearing names of popular songs. You have only two slips for each song. Then each person, as soon as he has drawn, goes about humming or whistling the tune named on his slip until he finds his musical duplicate. Fun! Even shy Sue and bashful Bill unbend.

Here's another secret of the popular hostess. Keep people circulating. Play a team game—such as Pass the Ring. All you need is two long pieces of stout cord and two curtain rings. Pick two of your poppiest guests for captains and have each choose a team until the whole crowd's lined up in two rows. Then give each team a cord to hold and each captain a ring. When you say "Go" the ring zips along the cord from player to player. The team which gets its ring to the end of the cord first is the winner! But—only the right hand must touch the ring. If any one uses the left, the ring must go back to the captain and down the line again.

And how's this for a quiet minute? Fill a "Mystery Box" with odds and ends—an egg-beater, a can opener, a potato—turn out the lights and have everybody guess what they are by touch. The guesses will be funny.

Many other jolly games and stunts are given in our 40-page booklet, GAMES FOR GOOD PARTIES. Ice-breakers, word games, magic tricks, fortune games to make your parties the best in town.

Send 15¢ for our booklet, GAMES FOR PARTIES to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 309 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Grand Matron Visits Kingston

The members of Clinton Chapter, No. 415, Order of the Eastern Star, were greatly honored in having as the guest of honor at their first meeting following the summer vacation Most Worthy Mae E. Adams, grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star in this state. Following the opening ceremonies the grand matron entered the room escorted by Most Worthy Alice M. Scardfield, junior past grand matron of the state of New York, and Miss Frieda L. Hayes, grand representative of the State of Arkansas.

Miss Scardfield made a beautiful introduction speech in presenting the grand matron to the members of the chapter. Worthy Matron, Mrs. Georgiana Fraser, who welcomed the grand matron in behalf of the chapter and to the city of her mother's birth. The grand matron was escorted to the East and accorded the honors due her high and exalted station and presented with the gavel of Clinton Chapter.

The members of the chapter were all excited to receive the grand matron and her escort. The grand matron had as her escort many present and past grand officers, present matrons and patrons and the past matrons of Clinton Chapter. The chapter was called to recreation and the girls of Rip Van Winkle Triangle, accompanied by Miss Kathryn Dressel, acting beloved Queen, entered the room and presented a very pretty floral ceremony in honor of the grand matron. Each girl carried a huge dahlia, with a package suspended by ribbon which contained a handkerchief.

At the close of the service Miss Dressel presented the huge bouquet to the grand matron who responded graciously expressing her joy in having the girls present and congratulating the Junior Deputy on her splendid accomplishments under her leadership.

The officers of Clinton Chapter took part in a lovely service, "The Pearls of Friendship" honoring the grand matron. During the ceremony the chapter gift was presented to the grand matron together with the "Pearls of Friendship" by Associate Matron Miss Vivian Kellenberger. The grand matron responded with appropriate words. O. Roy Greene, chairman of St. George Episcopal Church of Newburgh, was introduced by the worthy matron. The program for the evening was given over to Mr. Greene and the choir boys of his church. In addition to the 23 male voices Mr. Greene's daughter sang two selections. She was accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mr. Greene played two organ selections and accompanied the boys for their group of selections with the exception of one number which was unaccompanied. The members of Clinton Chapter were thus afforded a real musical treat and the hearty applause which followed each number was significant of their appreciation. Mr. Greene is a brother of Mrs. Anna Young, a member of Clinton Chapter.

Miss Vivian Kellenberger announced that the worthy matron had recently celebrated a birthday and she thought that since the grand matron and junior past grand matron were present it would be a nice time to observe it. Worthy Patron George B. Styles had a birthday earlier in the year but his belated birthday was also celebrated. Mrs. Laura S. Winfield presented a wardrobe overnight case to the worthy matron and Mrs. Elizabeth Schwenk presented Mr. Styles with a coffee table for his home. There was also a large birthday cake in honor of the occasion. The chapter resumed its business and procedure and the most worthy grand matron was called upon for her address of the evening. Mrs. Adams, who is a very sincere and gracious lady spoke feelingly in expressing her appreciation of the evening's entertainment prepared in her honor and the courtesies shown her. She paid a beautiful tribute to her co-worker for three years on the grand staff and who is still serving the grand chapter as a grand trustee. She recalled many happy days spent in Kingston as a child and paid a glowing tribute to the members of the order in this vicinity, saying that she felt sure the evening spent with them would be an inspiration to her in the busy days ahead when she would be preparing for the grand chapter session. She closed by expressing her appreciation to her district officers, Right Worthy Florence R. Hoagland, district deputy grand matron; Right Worthy Thelma Washington, assistant grand lecturer; and Right Worthy Evelyn Mackey, grand color bearer for their efforts in making the year such a successful one. She also expressed her appreciation to the worthy matron for all the courtesies shown her.

Miss Scardfield was called upon and responded in her usual charming manner expressing her appreciation of the privilege of again meeting with the members of her own chapter, of her joy in having the grand matron present and of her appreciation of the privilege of introducing the grand matron, a very dear friend. Others who were called upon and spoke briefly were R. W. Florence R. Hoagland of Prattville, district deputy grand matron of the Greeneville District; R. W. Thomas Washington of New Paltz, assistant grand lecturer of the Greeneville District; R. W. Evelyn Mackey of Oak Hill, grand color bearer; R. W. Paula Hayes of Kingston, grand representative to the state of Arkansas; and R. W. William Gates Greenback of Troy, assistant grand lecturer of the second Albany Rensselaer-Schoenectady district.

The worthy matron called upon Mary J. Howard for a report of the garden party held during the summer. On motion of Most Worthy Alice M. Scardfield a rising vote of thanks was given the worthy matron for her efforts in making the affair such a success.

Miss Vivian Kellenberger announced that a new club would be formed in the near future to help with the chapter finances for the year of 1938. The captains of the new club who are members of the chapter are Miss Alice Palmer, Miss Frieda Hayes and Mrs. Laura S. Winfield. Those wishing to join the club are asked to communicate with either of the captains or Miss Kellenberger.

The worthy matron announced several changes both in the program and committees for the balance of the year. The past minutes of the chapter will occupy the stations at the next meeting of the chapter on September 21.

Following the closing ceremonies refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Fastidious Okapi Uses Tongue as Scrub Brush

The okapi is of the genus Giraffidae and is "considered by many to be an actually living fossil," according to an authority in the Washington Post.

His body is like that of an antelope, and his legs have beautiful stripes of pure black and white similar to those of a zebra. The large red ears, the color of the undersides of the mandible leaves, are delicately fringed in black. The back is shaded into rich tints of dark red, light red and silvery red on the sides and under the belly.

More careful of his appearance than the most fastidious woman, the okapi never tires of washing himself carefully, licking his skin at every point that his long, 18-inch tongue can reach. And that means his entire body. His head can reach his tail as he bends his long neck as if it were joined at the base by a hinge.

The okapi's first act in the morning, and the last before going to sleep, is to bathe in the river. He does not roll in the water, but gallops through it, taking good care to choose a place where the bottom is sandy, so that the water splashing over him cannot become muddy.

If the okapi is jealous of his skin, there is "much in his madness." For, the darkness of the black blends almost perfectly with the near-black appearance of the vegetation at five or six feet from the ground; the black and white stripes of the upper part of the legs mimic the light and shadow projected through the lower part of the foliage, and the white of the stockings resembles the silvery color of the dried leaves on the ground. Hence, at five or six yards' distance—the maximum visibility in the forest—the okapi is invisible.

And just to add to the list of peculiarities the okapi's eyes are independent of each other, enabling him to look in two directions at once.

MENUS OF THE DAY

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Buffet Supper Menu Serving Six Or Seven

Chilled Fruit Juice
Spiced Beef Tongue
German Potato Salad
Dill Pickles
Stuffed Celery
Hot Buns
Gooseberry Jam
Lemon Sherbet
Coffee

Spiced Beef Tongue

Smoked tongue 6 whole cloves
1 bay leaf
4 peppercorns
4 celery leaves
2 onion slices
1 tablespoon vinegar

Scrub tongue and let soak for four hours or longer. Place in kettle with rest of the ingredients and cover by four inches with cold water. Slowly bring to the boiling point. Cover and allow to simmer for four hours or until the tongue is very tender when tested with a fork. Let cool in the stock. Remove. Discard the tough skin and muscle portions at the base of the tongue. Place on a platter and chill.

German Potato Salad

1 1/2 cups diced bacon
2 tablespoons minced onions
1/4 cup diced celery
1 tablespoon minced parsley
3 cups sliced boiled potatoes
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons sour cream

Cook bacon slowly until it is well browned and crisp. Pour over the rest of the ingredients and serve immediately. Top with a little boiled salad dressing.

Lemon Sherbet (Freezer Variety)

2 cups granulated sugar
1 1/2 cups lemon juice
1 egg white, beaten
3 cups water

Boil sugar and water together for two minutes. Cool. Add juice and pour into sterilized freezer. When half frozen add white and freeze until stiff.

Processed cheeses have no rind and will slice easily. They are made by melting different lots of cheese and mixing them together. The mixture is then poured into unglazed containers to harden.

Forst Packers Enjoy Outing

Freeman Photos

Not only the members of the United Workers Organization of the Jacob Forst Packing Co. had a good at the first annual outing and barbecue in Walton's Grove last Saturday. Their children were guests and relished roasted hot dogs banded out by Zack Hermance of the shipping department as shown above. The kiddies are Dorothy, Joan and Cora Brandt; Everett Walton, and Edward and Henry Huettinger.

The World Of Stamps

By James B. Hatcher

"If your enemy's sword is longer than yours, close with him." That's part of the battle code of Helbachiro Togo, the brave little admiral who directed Japan's warships when they met and sank the czar's grand fleet in the Sea of Japan in 1905. He came out of the Russo-Japanese war a national hero.

Now Japan is honoring Togo by placing his picture on a new 4-sen dark green stamp of the same design as the recent General Nogi stamp.

In 1894, Togo commanded the cruiser Naniwa. With it, he sank a Chinese troopship, starting the war which drove China out of Korea. By 1905, Togo was a vice admiral in command of Japan's main battle fleet. He fired the opening shots of the Russo-Japanese war, ordering his torpedo boats to attack Port Arthur. When Russia's Battle fleet arrived, he ran up his famous signal.

"The fate of the empire depends on this effort and the men must do their utmost." During the battle Togo paced the bridge of his flagship despite the heavy Russian fire. His officers tried to get him inside the conning tower, but he refused. A minute later the Russian guns hit the tower squarely. The engagement lasted two days and a night. The entire Russian fleet was sunk except two ships and they were captured.

The Old Map Argument. The emperor made Togo a count and decorated him with the Order of the Golden Kite. For almost 30 years he lived quietly in Tokyo in an aura of heroism, worshiped by the people. He died in 1934.

If two countries both claim a particular region, one of them sooner or later thinks of issuing a map stamp to show the world that she really owns the area.

Nicaragua offers the latest map stamp, in fact a set of seven designed for exterior airmail purposes. The map shows a cross-section of Central America, including bits of Costa Rica, El Salvador and Honduras, and quite all of Nicaragua.

Nicaragua and Honduras have been haggling over a sizable chunk of land between their borders. In a burst of broad-mindedness, Nicaragua has labeled this section "Territorio en Litigio" on the map stamp, but has calmly shaded it like the rest of Nicaragua as if to say it really is no part of Honduras.

The set consists of 10-centavo green, 15-cent blue, 20-cent yellow, 25-cent purple, 30-cent orange, 50-cent orange, 1-cordoba olive. A mail plane is included in the design.

Nicaragua also issues an interior airmail set of nine values, the design showing a monoplane over the president's mansion at Managua. Values are 1-cent carmine, 2-cent blue, 3-cent olive, 4-cent black, 5-cent purple, 6-cent dark brown, 8-cent purple slate, 16-cent orange, 24-cent yellow, 25-cent green.

blocks are asked to please bring them in at this meeting. The Dorcas Society will enjoy a pot luck supper at 6 o'clock this evening in the Reformed Church house.

Episcopos Council No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will hold its regular meeting Wednesday evening.

WALKILL

Walkill, Sept. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. John C. Buchanan of Lewisburg, Tenn., have been visiting friends in Walkill for a week. They were formerly residents of Walkill.

John Gilbert returned on Friday to his home from Cornwall Hospital, where he had been a patient for several weeks.

Mrs. Mary Dunham of New York spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Decker.

Mr. and Mrs. Ord Rairigh and son, William, of Ridgely, Md., were recent visitors of Miss Gertrude Devo.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crowell were called to Yorkers one day last week on account of the death of Mrs. Crowell's mother, Mrs. Mortensen. The body was brought to the Shawangunk Cemetery for burial on Saturday morning.

William B. Landrine spent the week-end with relatives in Purdy, Westchester county.

Fred Richter, a scout who attended the jamboree at Washington this summer, was on Friday the 10th scout in New York state to receive a visit from Harlan McLaughlin, of Cass, W. Va., since July 15. This boy who is 17 years old, was at a CCC Camp in Washington at the time of the jamboree. He obtained the names and addresses of 100 Boy Scouts attending it from New York state. On July 15, he set out to visit each one of these boys and since then he has hitch-hiked 4,000 miles to accomplish his end. He often sold newspapers in large cities to earn money to continue his trip. On Saturday he left Walkill to return to Washington, D. C., where he had to be at work on Monday as an elevator boy.

No Birthday Surprise.
Sioux Falls, S. D.—The county clerk's office here failed to extend a helping hand to Vincent Szegowski in a long distance romance.

Vincent wrote a polite note from New Haven, Conn., requesting the birth date of a Sioux Falls girl.

"The reason I want this information," he explained, "is that we have become acquainted through a correspondence club and I wish to surprise her on her birthday."

The clerk didn't try.

VARIOUS ACTIVITIES AT MODENA METHODIST CHURCH

Modena, Sept. 14.—A collection of fruit, vegetables, and canned goods will be received at the Epworth League Rally, on Tuesday evening. Contributions will be called for and delivered to the Walden Church, if the Rev. Philip Solbjor is notified. The Newburgh local union rally is conducted at the Walden Church, on Tuesday evening, when all young people are urged to attend. The contribution mentioned above is for the Five Points Mission.

Rehearsal of the Junior Choir members will be made each Wednesday afternoon, following the school period, at the Methodist Church, with Mrs. Philip Solbjor in charge. Girls and boys between the ages of eight and 15 are urged to join the choir, and attend rehearsals, the first one to be conducted on Wednesday afternoon, September 15.

"Padre Sahib", a drama of missionary life in India, will be shown in the Modena Methodist Church, Wednesday evening, September 15, at 8 o'clock. The picture was produced by Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers in India. No admission will be charged, but an offering will be taken.

Every department in the Methodist Church and Sunday School are planning to participate in the observance of "Rally Day" on Sunday, October 3. A pleasing program of entertainment is being planned. Your co-operation is desired in making this service successful and inspirational.

The annual clambake served to the members of the Uster County Dairyman's League Co-Operative Association, is scheduled for Thursday noon, September 30, in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall.

The Rev. Philip Solbjor, pastor of the Modena and Clintonville Methodist Churches will act as dean of the Annual Institute of the Newburgh Local Union Epworth League which will convene on Monday evening, October 5, and will continue for six consecutive Monday evenings in duration of the Institute. Classes will be taught by the Rev. Alfred Coons, of New Paltz Methodist Church; the Rev. George Chant, of the Plattekill Methodist Church; the Rev. Walter Scran-ton, the Rev. Wesley Gebhardt, the Rev. and Mrs. William Reed, the Newburgh District Young People's Conference will be conducted in Hancock during Oc-

Will Interview Army Recruits

Corporal Anthony T. Sedlak of the United States Army recruiting service will be at the main post office on Broadway on September 17 and again on September 24 for the purpose of interviewing applicants for enlistment in the United States Army.

He will be in the lobby of the post office on these two days between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Young men interested in the service are invited to call on him for full information on the advantages and benefits of an enlistment in the United States Army. Corporal Sedlak has been authorized to accept recruits for the infantry, field artillery, engineers, medical department and quartermaster corps for service in our foreign possession of Panama and Hawaii. The air corps and chemical warfare branches are open at Hawaii.

Applicants who find it impossible to contact Corporal Sedlak while on his visit to Kingston are invited to write to him at the Army Recruiting Station in Poughkeepsie and full information will be mailed them and an interview arranged.

African natives judge by the winds across the Sahara desert whether heavy rains will fall on the headwaters of the Nile and cause generous floods on the great river.

The Young People's organization met in Modena last spring, and it is desired that a satisfactory delegation from our church attend the current meeting at Hancock.

Modena women are invited to attend a silver tea, at the Methodist parsonage on Thursday afternoon, October 14, at 2:30 o'clock.

The regular meeting of the Official Board of the Modena Methodist Church will be conducted at Mrs. Anna Miller's residence on Wednesday evening, October 13.

The annual fair and supper, conducted for the benefit of the Modena Methodist Church, will also include the following features—a program of entertainment and a flower show.
